

Father of The Bride Role

Dad plays a BIG part

As the father of the bride you will most likely have to pay a high proportion of the cost for the wedding, however there are a lot of other duties that you will need to fulfill. Now that you have emptied your wallet and your pockets, on the day you have will to give your daughter away and make a speech.

You wont necessarily need to be involved with the whole planning of the wedding but you can choose to if you wish. Some fathers like to leave it up to the bride, brides mother and the groom to make all the arrangements, either way its up to you.

Do not think your just a wallet, make sure you give your daughter plenty of support as well as fulfilling your formal duties on the day. Remember, this is one of your daughters greatest day of her life to have her wedding the way she has always imagined.

If you have a particular skill or experience in a certain area, please do not feel shy to step forward and offer your services. Maybe you know a little about wine tasting or have a flash sports car you could lend to the best man to ensure the groom arrives to the venue in style. Whatever you have to offer, your daughter will be much appreciative. Let her know that she can always come to you for help and support.
